Hampton-Court, August 10.

THE following Addreſs to His Majeſty having been tranſmitted from Ireland, has been preſented to His Royal Highneſs the Prince of Wales by his Grace the Duke of Grafton, one of the Lords Juſtices of that Kingdom.

To the King's Moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the High-Sheriff, Governour, Grand Jury, Deputy Governours, Juſtices of the Peace, Clergy, and Gentlemen Freeholders of the County of Cavan, aſſembled at a General Aſſizes held for the ſaid County at Cavan the Fourteenth Day of July, 1716.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

WE your Majeſty's truly dutiful and loyal Subjects, beholding and adoring the glorious Declarations of the divine Providence, in Favour of your Majeſty's Title to the Throne of your Anceſtors, beg Leave to expreſs our Joy, not only for the Safety of your moſt ſacred Perſon, but for the great Deliverance of our Religion, Laws and Liberties, from the open Violence of Rebels, made deſperate by their own Guilt, and the ſecret Villany of diſguiſed and diſappointed Traitors.

We your Majeſty's Subjects in this Kingdom have long felt and ſtruggled with the Virulence and Hatred which Papiſts have ſhewn to your Perſon and Government; but that Proteſtants and Engliſhmen ſhould joyn with them in the Ruin of the Proteſtant Intereſt of Europe, the Deſtruction of our holy Church, and the Subverſion of our Laws; that Britons profeſſing the reformed Faith, Men born free and happy, ſhould joyn with Rome in the Cauſe of Slavery and Oppreſſion, is ſo wonderful, ſo unexampled a Prodigy, that it can only proceed from the Infatuations of the Devil, and ſhews us evidently, that Rebellion is as the Sin of Witchcraft.

As for us, tho' the leaſt and meaneſt of your Majeſty's Subjects, it has ever been our Glory to have ſtood in the Gap againſt Popery and Tyranny; and as there are few among us who have not ſeen either the Blood of our Parents and Friends, or the Loſs and Forfeiture of our Liberties and Eſtates ſacrificed to the implacable Violence of a Popiſh Government; ſo we beg your Majeſty to believe, that we will rather dye bravely in the Field, with our Swords in our Hands, defending all that is dear to Britons and Proteſtants, than ſubmit to the Government, or own the Title of a Creature who has joyned to the religious Hatred of a bigotted Papiſt, the Revenge and Cruelty of an Outlaw.

To conclude all, may the good and juſt God crown all your Majeſty's great Deſigns, and ſend you back to your Britiſh Subjects loaden with Honour and Succeſs; may he continue to bleſs protect and proſper your moſt ſacred Perſon, and that happy Conſtitution and Faith of which your Majeſty is, and ever has been, the Ornament and Bulwark againſt the Malice of it and your Enemies, and the Engines of Rome; may his moſt excellent Royal Highneſs and hopeful Iſſue, (that gives us ſo indearing a Proſpect of Peace and Happineſs) ſucceed, and, if poſſible, excel your Majeſty in all the great and glorious Vertues that adorn your Perſon and Reign; may your Miniſtry go on in raiſing their Country to the ſame glorious Heights of Honour and Power from which it was once ſo poorly fallen; may Religion no longer be turned into Rebellion, and Faith into Faction; may your Majeſty's moſt gracious Mercy be no more abuſed by ungrateful Rebels and perjured Traitors; and may your Majeſty's Sweetneſs and Clemency ſeek in vain for new Offenders to pardon; may the Eyes of your deluded People be open to behold their true Intereſt; and laſtly, may no falſe or miſtaken Son of our Church be found on one Side, whilſt the Providence of the Almighty is every Day proſpering the Counſels and Arms of the other. Theſe are, and ever ſhall be, the Prayers of,

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,
Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects.

Which Addreſs His Royal Highneſs was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

Vienna, Aug. 8. On Thurſday the 6th Inſtant arrived a Courier from the Army, with an Account, that on the 2d Prince Eugene ſent a Detachment of about 700 Horſe, with ſome Huſſars, to take a View of the Enemy; but leſt they ſhould be ſurprized and over-power'd, 2 Regiments of Horſe were added to that Detachment, and the Command of it was given to General Palfi, with Order not to attempt any thing, but to retire aſſoon as he ſhould ſee the Enemy advance againſt him. That General marched directly towards Peterwaradin, but at paſſing out of a Defilé, he was ſurprized to ſee all the Enemy's Horſe drawn up in Battalia: They immediately charged him with Vigour, ſo that about 3000 Horſe were obliged to defend themſelves for 4 Hours againſt the greateſt part of the Turkiſh Cavalry. Night coming on, General Palfi retired, with the Loſs of near 400 Men; having had his Horſe ſhot under him, and his Aide de Camp, his Page, and Two Grooms, killed by his ſide. The Loſs of the Turks was not known; but Major-General Count Preiner was miſſing, and is ſuppoſed to have been taken Priſoner in the Action. We learn by the ſame Courier, that the whole Turkiſh Army was in Motion, to hinder the Imperialiſts from paſſing the Danube; ſo that we hourly expect to hear that there has been a general Engagement.

Juſt now Collonel Count Kevenhuller is arrived with the News, that on the 5th of this Month Prince Eugene attacked the Turkiſh Army, conſiſting of 230000 Men, encamped near Carlowitz, having the Danube on their Right, and the Save on their Left: That the Fight was very bloody, the Turks defending themſelves well at the beginning, but being broken and put to the Rout, a dreadful Slaughter was made of them: That they were forced to abandon above 100 Pieces of Cannon in their Camp, with all their Tents and Baggage; and great Numbers who eſcaped the Sword of the Imperialiſts, were driven into the Save and Danube, where they periſhed; ſo that the Loſs of the Turks was reckoned at above 100000 Men, the Imperialiſts having had full Time to purſue them after the Fight, which began very early in the Morning. We do not yet know exactly the Loſs of the Imperialiſts, but 'tis ſaid not to amount to 4000 Men, among whom are no Perſons of Diſtinction, beſides the Majors-Generals Count Guellen and M. Lanctſen, and Lieutenant Colonel Count Palfi; Major General Count Preiner was found in the Grand Vizier's Tent, in Chains, and murthered with many Wounds. We expect every Moment another Courier with all the Particulars. Prince Eugene wrote in the Grand Vizier's Tent, the Letter notifying this Victory to the Emperour.
